Our Commitment

State of the art design and engineering

With decades of experience providing signage for the built environment, Parvin-Clauss has the expertise to create dynamic displays for its customers.

Our state of the art design center is staffed with highly talented artists chosen for their ability to create signs of unrivaled distinction. Our design professionals will blend aesthetic, budgetary, and brand requirements into a sign program that translates client image into visual impact.

What sets us apart is the way we unite the best of contemporary style and design with old world principles of workmanship and value. Our designers recognize that your sign says a lot about your organization. We can successfully create world class sign systems that will reveal and illuminate your image.

Working in concert with our design department and outside design firms, our engineering team reviews design concepts to ensure that the finished sign product has the structural integrity needed for the outside environment. Our engineers can also provide value-engineered alternatives to fit any budget.

Successful project management

Our experienced project management team works closely with clients to effectively manage all aspects of the planning and production process; including design review, permit procurement, site survey review, fabrication scheduling and sign installation. We have established a reputation for exceptional customer service by focusing on excellent communication both verbally and through our management reports. The relationships we've developed through the sign industry allow us to find solutions for even the most complex signage scenario.

Quality fabrication

The Parvin-Clauss owned fabrication facility is centrally located in suburban Chicago, Illinois. This modern, state of the art facility includes a highly sophisticated design center, sheet metal fabrication stations, spray areas with a computerized mixing station, large format digital printing rooms and assembly departments. Our fabrication team is experienced and thrives on managing varied and complex projects while paying close attention to the tiniest details.

Timely and safe installation

Our goal is to install your signs correctly on time and in a safe fashion. We have an excellent record of erecting signs throughout the country with our affiliate sign companies and locally using our trained, uniformed and experienced installation personnel.

Our fleet of well maintained and fully equipped service vehicles provides our installers with the assurance that they are using the best equipment available for safely and effectively installing your signs. Parvin-Clauss' reputation and professional image reflects positively on us and places you, our customer, in a positive light.

Sign maintenance

All signs require maintenance, be it changing bulbs, washing faces or repairing storm damaged components. A Parvin-Clauss sign is fabricated in a way that is well constructed, has the highest quality sign components and is built with accessibility in mind for easier, less expensive service time.

Parvin-Clauss offers 24/7 emergency sign repair in the Chicagoland area with our own crews of sign repair professionals. Our dedicated, well trained installers and repairmen operate our fleet of fully stocked service trucks. For sign repair outside the Chicago area, we work closely with our installation and repair partners from coast to coast.
